FSU NATIONAL RANKING IN 2020 U.S. NEWS

Florida State University soared eight spots to No. 18 among national public universities in the latest U.S. News & World Report rankings, meeting and well exceeding its goal of joining the Top 25.

It's the greatest single-year improvement in University history.

FSU has risen 25 spots among public universities since placing No. 43 in 2016. FSU moved up to No. 38 in the 2017 list and then to 33 on the 2018 list. Last year, FSU ranked No. 26 among public universities.

How did this happen? Provost McCrorie explains: "Student success is at the heart of everything we do here. For example, FSU hired 125 new faculty last fall to improve class size and research. Now more than 50 percent of FSU's classes are smaller than 20 students."

Florida State's four-year graduation rate of 72 percent ranks among the Top 10 public universities in the country and is No. 1 in Florida.

FROM THE PRESIDENT

When I learned that Florida State had moved to number 18 in the rankings of the U.S. News and World Report for public universities—a leap of eight ranks in one year—I was in Paris. A few days later I traveled to Florence and visited the FSU Study Center. There we were able to celebrate the good news with other Seminoles in another part of the world. What a sense of pride we all shared! Thanks to the leadership of President Thrasher and Provost McRorie....and thanks for the hard work of many faculty, staff, alumni, and students—both current and past—who laid the groundwork for this outstanding accomplishment.

The retired faculty and staff contribute to the University in a number of ways. One way is through financial contributions. During the Raise the Torch campaign--celebrated in 2018—it was reported by the FSU Foundation that a total number of 678 retired faculty and staff contributed $5,401,547 to the University. You have the opportunity through ARF to contribute to both the Southern Scholarship Foundation and the Bernard Sliger Presidential Scholarship Fund. We encourage you to make these voluntary contributions using the form in our Retiree Journal.

We hope you continue to take advantage of the programs of the Association. The Holiday Reception at the President's House is by invitation only to dues-paying members of the Association. In the Spring our Barbecue will be held in March at the Seminole Reservation and our Spring Luncheon will be held in the Alumni Center Ballroom in May.

Your Nominating Committee will be meeting in January. The committee is chaired by Past President Jim Melton and includes Max Carraway, Carolyn Shackelford, Tom Knowles, and Ivy Mitchell. A nominee needs to be a member in good standing of the Association who has agreed to be a candidate for the office. Information about the roles of Board members can be found on our website: <http://retiredfaculty.fsu.edu> A Directory of the Board Members can be found in the back of the Retiree Journal.

NOVEMBER 2019

I would like to thank Dr. Fanchon Funk, Genevieve Scott, and Dr. Freddie Groomes-McLendon for spearheading the drive to collect non-perishable items for the Southern Scholarship houses at our Fall Luncheon. And, thank you to all our members who brought items to be distributed among the student housing facilities. We are always happy to have representatives from the Southern Scholarship Foundation join us for our luncheons. We continue to support Dr. Shawn Woodin and Kristie Teal for the work they do every day with this valuable program that serves so many Florida students.

We hope you find a way to become involved with the Retired Faculty Association and with the University. Keep the Torch burning!

All the best,

Nancy A. Turner

Membership News

The members of the Florida State University Association of Retired Faculty and Staff extend a cordial invitation to you to join our organization. Retirement is our time to keep learning and growing. ARF has a simple method for you to stay dynamic and connected to your friends and colleagues at FSU – join us!

Those eligible for membership include any faculty member and administrative staff member of the Florida State University and its direct support organization who is retired. Spouses of members and of deceased members are included in this eligibility.

Current members of ARF, I ask you to encourage your friends that are not members of ARF to join today. If you have recommendations for membership, please contact me. I will be happy to follow up and make contact, if you wish. Remember, in December we gather to meet at the President's House for a Holiday Gathering with friends from across the University. Those of us who have been members of ARF have found the activities to be stimulating, fun and rewarding.

Betty Serow, Chair
Membership Committee

Friendship News

As the Friendship Chairs of ARF, we contact our members, spouses, and their parents who are residing in Tallahassee when health issues arise.

We appreciate your help in contacting us, so we can send cards from ARF, make personal visits, or notify other members of our extended family to provide that special care.

If you know of anyone that needs our attention, please contact John or Jenny Bryant at (850) 385-6610 - email: vbryant42@me.com, or Ivy Mitchell at (850) 286-3026 - email: ivymitchell@comcast.net.

Nominations:

ARF Board of Directors

Please nominate anyone who might be interested in becoming a member of the ARF Board of Directors. The Nominating Committee will meet in January to determine the slate of officers for 2019-2020. Elected positions that are open include President Elect, Secretary, Treasurer, and At-Large Board Member. A nominee needs to be a member in good standing of the Association who has agreed to be a candidate for office. If you have any questions about the roles of Board Members, please check our website:

TRANSFORMING RETIREMENT

By Carolyn Shackelford, President Elect &
National Liaison, AROHE

The Association of Retirement Organizations in Higher Education (AROHE) has announced several exciting programs for the coming months. The AROHE Travel Institute, a program to help connect fellow colleagues and academia retirees in meaningful and thought-provoking educational travel opportunities, is in the planning stage.

The AROHE 10th Biennial Conference is scheduled for October 18-20, 2020, at Arizona State University in Tempe.

Several websites addressing life after retirement were recently provided:

I’m Retired. What Should I Do Now?
<https://tinyurl.com/y2aokl6z>

How People Who Love Helping Kids Can Create Meaningful Retirements
<https://tinurl.com/y5w45yzo>

Top Ten Financial Scams Targeting older Adults
<https://tinyurl.com/pt6ddog>

We are reminded that AROHE’s Mantra is “Transforming Retirement”. Recent notes from the current President included a Michelangelo quote, “The greatest danger for most of us is not that our aim is too high and we miss it, but that it is too low and we reach it.”

Together, FSU ARF members will continue to aim high!

FSU Marching Chiefs in France to Commemorate 75th Anniversary of D-Day

By Florence Ashby

It should be no surprise that the only U.S. collegiate band to participate in the 75th anniversary of the D-Day Landings would be our own Marching Chiefs! My excitement grew as my coach pulled out of Victoria Station in London en route to Paris. My first stop had been London so that I could see the musical “Hamilton”. We rolled through the Kent Countryside toward the Chunnel (an experience in itself), then from Normandy to Paris.

The venue for the initial concert was the garden of the Trocadero. With the Chiefs arranged ready to play, the sky opened. The rain poured, and the concert began. The music sounded wonderful. The lovely uniforms were protected by transparent raincoats, so that the bright garnet colors could be seen. The majorettes twirled, while the flag corps performed their pom-pom routine. Our famous conductors, Doctors Patrick Dunnigan and David Plack, as well as the drum majors directed the concert. Dean Patricia Flowers looked on proudly. An appreciative audience of Marching Chiefs’ alumni, parents, and College of Music personnel stood in the down-pour enjoying the concert! Many photos were taken, with the Eiffel Tower in the background—just across the Seine River.

RETIREE JOURNAL 6

After some sightseeing adventures, the Chiefs were off to their main event—the mega celebration of the D-Day Landings at the Normandy Beaches. Many dignitaries arrived for the ceremony and the march-by, in which the Marching Chiefs took part. A wreath laying ceremony at the American Cemetery above Omaha Beach closed the activities in Normandy.

RETIREE JOURNAL 8

Back in Paris there was more sightseeing. I encountered some Chiefs at the Galeries Lafayette department store, identifiable by their F.S.U. tee shirts. We had a little reunion amid the latest Paris fashions! The final concert took place in the Park du André Citroën, known for its architecturally designed gardens. The park is some distance from the city center; I navigated the Paris Metro to reach the stop sharing the name of the park. In my best F.S.U. French I asked directions to the Park—and was actually understood!

A group of Chiefs went to Versailles.

Florence in the Park du André Citroën, pictured with the drum section.

On a wide plaza the Chiefs were arranged in concert formation behind an impressive banner. A short rain shower cleared the air, the sun burst forth, the concert began. In addition to our F.S.U. Chiefs' followers we had some French admirers who were aware of publicity about the concert. We had a variety of conductors, including Colonel Arnald D. Gabriel, Conductor Emeritus of the United States Air Force Band. Colonel Gabriel had been a young soldier in Europe during WWII and was reliving some memories in Normandy and Paris. When the Chiefs played the "Fight Song", the French ladies sitting with us joined in doing the Seminole Chop! The brass choir from the band stepped forth and repeated the moving concert they had played at the American Cemetery in Normandy. Of course, the final number was "The Hymn to the Garnet and the Gold". Our new French friends linked arms and swayed along with us as we sang that lovely tune. This closed a grand afternoon, after which we all came home.

A Look Back in Time

The FSCW Farm

By Tom Knowles
(ARF Board Member)

The new FSCW farm facilities in 1935

In 1907, the Florida Female College in Tallahassee hired an innovative bachelor as its business manager. One of the problems John Gabriel Kellum tackled early on was finding an economical means to dispose of food waste from the dining hall. He bought 3 pigs and housed them in pens convenient to the dining hall, but far enough away to be unobtrusive to sight and smell. This was the beginning of the FSCW farm.

In 1917, amid the rumblings of an impending war, Kellum expanded farm operations at the college (now known as the Florida State College for Women) creating a small dairy to supply the dining hall with milk. He started with 25 cows. By 1945 when Kellum retired there were 250 cows on the farm producing 360 gallons of milk per day. Milk in excess of the College's needs was sold to local dairies. Vegetable gardens were added during World War I to ensure the students had a reliable source of fresh produce.

The May 30, 1930 edition of the Florida Flambeau reported the college farm was producing "cabbage and other vegetables, cows, pigs, and chickens" for the dining room. The poultry operation was started in 1924 and eventually had 2,000 chickens.

One of Kellum's priorities throughout his 38 years at the college was transforming the drab grounds of the campus into a beautiful landscape conducive to academic pursuits. He established a nursery at the farm to provide sod, trees, and shrubs. According to Gerald Ensley, by the time Kellum retired the women's college was considered to be one of the most beautiful campuses in the Nation.

The original farm was located on the west most portion of the FSCW campus in the general area of where the student union facilities are located today. In the midst of the Great Depression, 757 acres of farmland located a few miles southwest of the college was purchased. The construction of new farm facilities for the college was approved for funding by the Federal Emergency Relief Administration and work began immediately. By 1935 a new dairy barn, silos, and other facilities were ready for occupancy and the farm operation was moved off the main campus.

J. P. Love managed the farm for 37 years. His son, J. P. Love, Jr., became a professor at FSU (Social Work, 1960-1990).

Although the farm continued in operation for over a decade after FSCW became the Florida State University in 1947, it was no longer a practical source to supply food for the burgeoning student population. The farm operations were gradually phased out.

As the available land on the main campus became scarce, the southwest farmlands were diverted to other uses. Some of the land acquired in the 1930s was assigned to FAMU for agricultural uses. The FSU farmland was subsequently used for a trailer park, Innovation Park, the FSU Golf Course, WFSU Broadcast Center, & the College of Engineering.

John Gabriel Kellum, FSCW business manager, started the farm as well as a bakery, laundry, print shop, bookstore, soda shop, post office, and student bank.

Jim Moran College of Entrepreneurship

Dean Susan S. Fiorito

Founded with a $100 million gift from Jan Moran and The Jim Moran Foundation in December 2015, it's been a period of rapid growth for the school-turned-college.

The school opened its doors in fall 2017 with a class of 80 students and watched its first graduates collect their degrees in spring 2019. There are now about 760 students, 25 faculty and 11 staff members.

The college, which offers three undergraduate majors (commercial, social and retail entrepreneurship), welcomed its first class of graduate students this fall in the new Master of Science degree program in Retail Entrepreneurship with a major in Textiles and Apparel Entrepreneurship. The addition of a graduate program allowed the school to begin the process of becoming a college.

Jim Moran Professor Susan Fiorito, the new college's dean, was the school's founding director and has led its transition to college status. Fiorito said the achievement couldn't have happened without the hard work of many.

ARF Membership Policy

Effective with the by-laws that were adopted two years ago, ARF's fiscal year is now defined as June 1-May 31. New memberships and membership renewals received anytime between these dates apply only to the current fiscal year. For example, if you paid membership dues anytime during our 2018-2019 fiscal year (June 1, 2018 through May 31, 2019) then your membership was valid until June 1, 2019. For membership during fiscal year 2019--2020, dues have to be paid on or after June 1, 2019.

Because our accounting system is not very sophisticated, based as it is on a simple Excel spreadsheet, it is not possible to accept new memberships or renewals for the next fiscal year in advance. In other words, you will not be able to join ARF for 2019-2020 or renew your membership for 2019-2020 prior to June 1, 2019.

This raises the issue of members who make multiple payments during the year. Because of the above policy on advance renewals, these overpayments cannot be applied to the following fiscal year. A number of years ago, the ARF Board addressed the question of overpayments and multiple payments during a fiscal year,

The Board adopted a policy against refunding overpayments or multiple payments of membership dues. This decision was made because of the accounting challenges involved given our simple accounting system and the mailing costs. Instead these overpayments and multiple payments are treated as donations to ARF. Keep in mind, however, that because we are not a 501(c) organization, these donations are not tax-deductible.

If you are ever in doubt as to whether you have paid dues for the current year, please do not hesitate to contact me by email to inquire. It takes very little time and effort on my part to check your status and to respond to you, and unless I am out of town and away from my records, I will respond quite promptly. My email address is tmccaleb@fsu.edu, and I'm always happy to hear from you and to answer any questions or address any problems you might have about ARF. While I prefer to communicate by email, for those members not having access to email, my telephone number is (850) 933-7653.

NOVEMBER 2019

*For the March issue of the ARF Journal,
 please submit your publications
 and professional activities by January 14, 2019
 to: thart@fsu.edu*

This issue of the ARF Journal continues a new era. We coordinate with the FSU Printing Department Staff to make sure the Journal is current in appearance.

We are also continuing to include photos of Officers and Committee Chairs with their articles. These features have been added to help with any historical research in the future, since this information is added to our Website for each issue.
